50-metre wireless phone line

The Wireless PHONEJack is the perfect solution wherever you need an extra connection. This well-designed plug can easily be inserted anywhere in your home.

Normally, if you want an extra telephone socket in your home, you need to install wires and other equipment, which can be both expensive and time-consuming.

You can also choose to clutter up your home with a messy tangle of wires below desks, alongside walls, through ceilings, upstairs and downstairs.

But with the Wireless PHONEJack you get an easy, inexpensive and visually appealing solution. And it works with several devices in your home.

More time to relax

The Wireless PHONEJack is the perfect solution wherever you need an extra connection. This well-designed plug can easily be inserted anywhere in your home. Just connect the base unit to the phone socket and place the extension unit in a power socket next to the device that you need to connect.

The PHONEJack gives you 50 metres of wireless connection. All without incurring any installation time or costs. It's a 1-minute plug and play installation. Just plug in, communicate and relax.
